High Quality Work Protocol 2019

School Name	Channel View School for Research
Date of Protocol	January 28, 2019, Chancellor's Conference Day for Staff Development
Participants	Inquiry Team: Michael Graber, Allison Friedman, Patrick Mohamed, Carmella
	Gandolfo, Antoinette Melella, Palmyre Seraphin, Maxine Rauh
Based on today's protocol, wh	nat conclusions did you draw about the level of quality displayed in the student work?
Ci
Strengths
Complexity higher-order thinking
multiple perspectives
application of higher o	rder literacy skills
Craftsmanship accuracy, detail, and b
beautiful work in conc	eption and execution
Authenticity
-	inal, creative thinking of students rmats and standards from professional world for research projects (National History Day, Individual Writter
 connects academic sta 	ndards with real-world issues
Complexity: develop higher-or	der thinking by narrowing research focus
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use o	der thinking by narrowing research focus f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use o Authenticity: all students will o	f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use o Authenticity: all students will Goal To train our students to	f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use o Authenticity: all students will Goal To train our students to	f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use of Authenticity: all students will of Goal To train our students to identify a specific focus for	 f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps Students will practice revising sample broad research topics to develop their ability to narrow a research topic's focus. Students will practice Question Formation Techniques to improve their ability
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use of Authenticity: all students will of Goal To train our students to identify a specific focus for	 f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps Students will practice revising sample broad research topics to develop their ability to narrow a research topic's focus. Students will practice Question Formation Techniques to improve their ability to develop their own questions.
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use of Authenticity: all students will of Goal To train our students to identify a specific focus for their research.	 f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps Students will practice revising sample broad research topics to develop their ability to narrow a research topic's focus. Students will practice Question Formation Techniques to improve their ability
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use or Authenticity: all students will of Goal To train our students to identify a specific focus for their research. To train our students in peer	 f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps Students will practice revising sample broad research topics to develop their ability to narrow a research topic's focus. Students will practice Question Formation Techniques to improve their ability to develop their own questions.
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use of Authenticity: all students will of Goal To train our students to identify a specific focus for their research. To train our students in peer editing, so they will be less	 f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps Students will practice revising sample broad research topics to develop their ability to narrow a research topic's focus. Students will practice Question Formation Techniques to improve their ability to develop their own questions. Teachers will use modeling in workshops designed to assist students in
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use or Authenticity: all students will of Goal To train our students to identify a specific focus for their research. To train our students in peer editing, so they will be less reliant on teacher feedback.	 f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps Students will practice revising sample broad research topics to develop their ability to narrow a research topic's focus. Students will practice Question Formation Techniques to improve their ability to develop their own questions. Teachers will use modeling in workshops designed to assist students in mastering peer editing. Teachers will use Student Sample texts to highlight how to provide effective
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use or Authenticity: all students will of Goal To train our students to identify a specific focus for their research. To train our students in peer editing, so they will be less reliant on teacher feedback.	 f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps Students will practice revising sample broad research topics to develop their ability to narrow a research topic's focus. Students will practice Question Formation Techniques to improve their ability to develop their own questions. Teachers will use modeling in workshops designed to assist students in mastering peer editing. Teachers will use Student Sample texts to highlight how to provide effective feedback.
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use of Authenticity: all students will of Goal To train our students to identify a specific focus for their research. To train our students in peer editing, so they will be less reliant on teacher feedback. To train our students to	 f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps Students will practice revising sample broad research topics to develop their ability to narrow a research topic's focus. Students will practice Question Formation Techniques to improve their ability to develop their own questions. Teachers will use modeling in workshops designed to assist students in mastering peer editing. Teachers will use Student Sample texts to highlight how to provide effective feedback. Teachers across disciplines and grade levels will use common language for Craftsmanship: increase use of Authenticity: all students will of Goal To train our students to identify a specific focus for their research. To train our students in peer editing, so they will be less reliant on teacher feedback. To train our students to better understand a source's	 f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps Students will practice revising sample broad research topics to develop their ability to narrow a research topic's focus. Students will practice Question Formation Techniques to improve their ability to develop their own questions. Teachers will use modeling in workshops designed to assist students in mastering peer editing. Teachers will use Student Sample texts to highlight how to provide effective feedback. Teachers across disciplines and grade levels will use common language for evaluating sources (RAVEN: reputation; ability to observe; vested interest;
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use of Authenticity: all students will of Goal To train our students to identify a specific focus for their research. To train our students in peer editing, so they will be less reliant on teacher feedback. To train our students to better understand a source's reliability by developing their	 f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps Students will practice revising sample broad research topics to develop their ability to narrow a research topic's focus. Students will practice Question Formation Techniques to improve their ability to develop their own questions. Teachers will use modeling in workshops designed to assist students in mastering peer editing. Teachers will use Student Sample texts to highlight how to provide effective feedback. Teachers across disciplines and grade levels will use common language for evaluating sources (RAVEN: reputation; ability to observe; vested interest; expertise; neutrality).
Complexity: develop higher-or Craftsmanship: increase use of Authenticity: all students will of Goal To train our students to identify a specific focus for their research. To train our students in peer editing, so they will be less reliant on teacher feedback. To train our students to better understand a source's reliability by developing their understanding of how to cite and evaluate sources.	 f multiple drafts and revision, focus on peer editing use formats and standards from professional world for research projects Next Steps Students will practice revising sample broad research topics to develop their ability to narrow a research topic's focus. Students will practice Question Formation Techniques to improve their ability to develop their own questions. Teachers will use modeling in workshops designed to assist students in mastering peer editing. Teachers will use Student Sample texts to highlight how to provide effective feedback. Teachers across disciplines and grade levels will use common language for evaluating sources (RAVEN: reputation; ability to observe; vested interest; expertise; neutrality).

7th-12th grades National History Day Learning Expedition (research project) 6th grade Wind Turbine Experiment (lab experiment) 10th grade Individual Written Argument

10th-11th grade Beautiful Geometry Project (mathematical analysis of art)

11th grade Hamilton Projects (creative research-based writing)